OCEAN COUNTY GRAVESTONES

Cassville Methodist Churchyard

IT IS SAID that a log church once stood in a corner of this cemetery before a more suitable structure was erected in 1826. The locality was inhabited as early as 1799 being known then as Goshen according to the Diary of the Reverend Sneath. The present building dates from May 1859. Typically, the cemetery has old and new sections, the older one having been cleared of brambles not long before the stones were copied and checked by members of the Genealogical Society on October 2, 1976. The new section is active and well kept. The cemetery is located in the northeast corner of the intersection of county routes 528 and 571 in the western portion of Jackson Township.

The inscriptions have been consolidated into family groups. An asterisk after a name indicates that the person and the relationship were given in an inscription, but no gravestone was found for that person. Inscriptions "on same stone," "in same plot," etc., suggest a family relationship but none was stated on the stones or is assumed in the compilation.

Dear Rev. Bethke,

I have been informed by Robert B. Steelman, Historian of the Southern New Jersey Methodist Conference, that Pleasant Grove Church absorbed the Cassville Church and maintains it's registers.

My ancestors lived in the VanHiseville and Cassville areas from 1760 to 1894 and I believe some were affiliated with the Cassville or Pleasant Grove Church. Would it be possible to check membership registers to see if they were? They are Peter Daniel Perrine (1772-1856) and his wife Anne or Nancy (Garrison) Perrine (1777-1830). Peter died Dec. 8, 1856, his wife on Oct. 22, 1830. Are there any death registers from this time? I believe they were interred in the Old Baptist Cemetery near Imlaystown.

Thank you for any help you can provide.

Sincerely,

Brian A. Smith
